

Quests of the Rogue Order

Stress-Free Surprises

Summary:

Have you wanted to make a real difference? Supporting those who help society run smoothly is a great place to start.

We are the beneficiaries (both directly and indirectly) of hard work done by good people around us. They are often underpaid for doing stressful jobs and usually receive little recognition or thanks from the community. With this initiative, we show our appreciation for these workers with a surprise gift basket and a note of appreciation!

Community Impact:

This quest will hopefully alleviate some stress built up within important community workers around you, and let them know that their good work is appreciated and acknowledged by the public. When civil servants and care givers such as teachers, police, nurses, and social workers know that, then they are better prepared to serve.

Steps & Instructions:

- Think of a group of workers near you that may be underappreciated and have stressful jobs.
- Choose a specific date and location, office or workplace to deliver the package.
- Find or purchase an attractive container such as a basket or open box. (For security reasons, do not deliver a closed package.)
- Fill the container with gift items, enough for them to be shared among the workers of a particular office or workplace. As this is a simple gesture of appreciation, you are not required at all to spend a great deal of money. Some ideas of items you can donate include: Water bottles, packaged food, fresh fruit, letters of appreciation, lotions, soaps, candles, pens, stationary, and pastries.
- Print off the “Stress-Free Surprise” note from the Rogue Order's page, add it to the package, (decorate the container if you wish), and deliver the package in person to the office or workplace's administrator or receptionist!
